The Chair appointed the following committee on Resolutions: H. H. Mullin, A. C. Blum, E. W. Gaskill, Jno. A. Wykoff, W. H. Mitchell.

The nomination of candidate for Congress being in order, Hon. J. C. Johnson, in a brief, but appropriate speech placed in nomination Capt. Chas. F. Barclay, of Grove. Mr. M. J. B. Brooks, of Driftwood, seconded Mr. Barclay's nomination. His recommendation was carried unanimously, with power to name his own conferees.

Mr. J. P. McNarney in a well-timed speech placed the name of Mr. B W. Green before the convention for President Judge, Mr. M. M. Larrabee seconding the nomination. Mr. Green was unanimously declared Cameron county's choice for President Judge, with power to name his own conferees.

For Senatorial delegates, J. D Swope, H. S. Lloyd and Jos. L. Wheeler were unanimously elected.

Mr. A. C. Blum placed in nomination for Association Judge, Hon. George J. LaBar, Mr. H. H. Mullin nominated John W. Kriner. Upon roll call the vote resulted: Kriner 14, LaBar 20. The nomination of Mr. LaBar was made unanimous.

For Prothonotary, W. J. Leavitt, and R. R. McQuay, were nominated, the vote resulting: Leavitt, 24; McQuay, 10. The nomination of Mr. Leavitt was made unanimous.

H. H. Mullin placed in nomination for District Attorney, Mr. J. P. McNarney, which was unanimously carried.

Dr. W. S. Russel, of Gibson, was nominated for Coroner by acclamation.

V. A. Brooks was nominated for County Surveyor by acclamation.

John A. Wykoff, of Grove, was nominated for Jury Commissioner by acclamation.

On motion Mr. A. C. Blum was duly elected delegate to the Republican State Convention.

Mr. L. W. Gleason, of Driftwood, was unanimously elected Chairman of the Republican County Committee.

The committe on Resolutions reported the following resolutions which were adopted:

OUR PLATFORM.

The Republican party of Cameron county heartily approves the wise, courageous course of President Roosevelt, who has given the country one of the most notable administrations in the history of America, in the best interests of all the people, regardless of party.

Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker, our able and concientious executive has our unbounded confidence and admiration. His wise course and honest recommendations meet the wishes of our people.

We heartily commend United States Senators Boies Penrose and Philander C. Knox for their marked ability and watchfullness over the varied intests of our state and nation.

We endorse the course of our Congressman Solomon R. Dresser. We appreciate the many courtesies extended to our county, and his untiring efforts in behalf of our people. His record has been honorable and worthy of praise.

It is with pride that Cameron county presents the name of our honored citizen and neighbor as a candidate for President Judge of the 25th Judicial District, Mr. Benjamin W. Green, believing that his emident fitness, long practice in the courts of the several counties, his familiarity with our varied interests and its people will give the Bench an able jurist, in the prime of life; honest, safe and impartial. We strongly urge upon our sister counties that they accord him the unanimous nomination and election, pledging his fidelity to the best interests of the entire people, unbiased by political opinions.

We pledge our united support to the candidacy of Capt. Chas. F. Barclay for member of Congress and urge strongly our claims upon the district. We present an upright gentleman, a clean farseeing business man and a scholar; an employer of labor in large numbers in this and other counties—Cameron, McKean, Potter, Sullivan and Bradford counties—his interests are closely allied with Pennsylvania. If nominated and elected, he would make a faithful servant of the people. Capt. Barclay's honorable record as a soldier entitles him to the gratitude of a loyal people. His nomination by the Congressional Convention of this district would be an honor to the entire district and state.

We heartily endorse the legislative record of our representative, the Hon. Josiah Howard, and bespeak the support of the county for his reelection. We have the fullest confidence in his efficient zeal and sagacious spirit. We commend hise fforts in securing the passage of an act imposing a fixed charge upon unseated lands acquired by the state.

The nomination of Hon. Geo. J. LaBar for Associate Judge is a compliment worthily bestowed upon a good citizen, a careful business man and a kind benefactor to many of our citizens. A quiet unassuming gentleman, he has for years labored for the material advancement of our county, investing his means where it gave employment to many men. The man who has sufficient confidence in our county to expend his means at home and give labor employment is always a safe citizen. Such is Hon. Geo. J. LaBar. Like his running mate, Capt. C. F. Barclay, he enlisted at the commencement of the war and stood by his country from start to finish.

Our nominee for Prothonotary, Register, Recorder and Clerk of the Courts, William J. Leavitt, is a native of this county, having been born on West Creek, Shippen township. He has labored hard and zealously to fit himself for his chosen occupation, that of school teacher. His ability is undisputed. The American people believe in sustaining the poor boy who fights his battle, alone and unaided, to secure an education, that he may advance among his fellow-men Our nominee has demonstrated that he had the courage to fight and work. Our people know and appreciate his efforts and will nobly encourage him, and other young men, to push forward.

The Republicans of Cameron county extends to the retiring Prothonotary, Mr. C. Jay Goodnough, its thanks for the faithful and efficient manner he has conducted the affairs of his office during the past twelve years, the proficiency of his labors being highly commended. While many of our citizens urged him to again become a candidate, he begged to be excused. other business requiring his attention.

We favor legislation entorcing the Constitution so that it shall render it impossible for coal companies, railroads or other corporations to discriminate against the manufacturer, small coal operator, shippers and laborers.

We are opposed to discrimination or favoritism in the sale of passenger tickets by the Railroads, and that we are opposed to the additional deposits charged on milage books and demand that all persons be entitled to purchase tickets at the same rate per mile, regardless of the distance traveled, and good on all trains and under all conditions upon which milage books are used, and that the price of tickets and milage books shall not exceed two cents per mile.

We also favor that trolley lines be permitted to carry the farmers' produce to market; we believe in fair and equal taxation; we urge a still further state appropriation to our roads and schools; we insist that moneys paid for licenses and mercantile taxes shall be paid into our borough and township treasuries; we appeal to the voters of Cameron county to favor the enactment of legislation that will bring about these results.

We pledge our loyal support to the ticket this day nominated, and we counsel that careful consideration and wise action guide the Republican State Convention that a ticket be selected that shall receive the united support of the Republican party.

Mr. C. Jay Goodnough read the following resolution calling upon Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker to appoint B. W. Green, Esq., President Judge to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. Chas. A. Mayer Mr. Goodnough's motion was unanimously carried:

RESOLUTION EXTRAORDINARY.

Mr. C. Jay Goodnough, Prothonotary, offered the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

WHEREAS, By the death of Hon. Chas. A. Mayer a vacancy exists in the office of President Judge of the 25th Judicial District of Pennsylvania, comprising the counties of Cameron, Clinton and Elk, which vacancy will be filled by an appointment by the Governor of Pennsylvania. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Republican party of Cameron county in convention assembled having this day unanimously endorse Benjamin W. Green of Emporium, Penn'a, a member of the Bar of Cameron county for the nomination for said office does respectfully and most earnestly request Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, Governor of Pennsylvania, to appoint Mr. Green President Judge of this Judicial District, to fill said vacancy.

Mr. Green is an earnest and consistent Republican. For upwards of thirty years he has been an active and successful practioner at the Bar of this and adjoining counties, as well as in the appellate and U. S. Courts. His experience has been wide, his qualifications are pre-eminent, his character is irreproachable, his ability is unexcelled. His appointment would maintain the high standard of judicial ability which has characterized our courts under his eminent predecessors, Hon. Henry W. Williams and Hon. C. A. Mayer, and would be most creditable to the Governor, the district and the state, and we again most earnestly urge the appointment of Mr. Green.

Address of B. W. Green, in Memory of Judge Mayer.

Hon. Charles A. Mayer.

We copy the following from the Clinton Republican, being in part the eloquent tribute paid by B. W. Green, Esq., in behalf of the Cameron County Bar to the memory of Hon. Charles A. Mayer, at the meeting of the Bar Association of this Judicial District at Lock Haven, May 22d, 1906:

"B. W. Green, Esq., of Emporium, said it is appropriate that this meeting should be held by the members of the bar of the Twenty-Fifth Judicial district, as well as those of the adjoining counties, to pay tribute to the memory of the deceased, Hon. Charles A. Mayer. It has been my pleasuse to have known Judge Mayer somewhat intimately for about a quarter of a century, and more particularly since the new formation of the Twenty-Fifth Judicial district in 1883. He followed in our county that renowned jurist, Hon. Henry W Williams, who graced the supreme court bench for so many years afterwards and their names will ever be enrolled upon the pages of the judiciary of this state. From that time until the present he has held our courts, and to me it seems like the loss of dear personal friend. I heartily endorse every thought of the members of the bar that have preceeded me. His knowledge of the law and his correctness of opinion cannot be expressed in words. We members of the bar of the Twenty Fifth Judicial district have lost a shining light. We will always remember him with the greatest respect. Yes, we have lost a friend; but we must remember that Judge Mayer is not only a loss to us; he is a loss to the 80,000 inhabitants of this district. His knowledge of the law and his knowledge of the people were perfect. He had a hold upon the masses that no other man in this district ever has held or ever will hold."

Life Motion Pictures.

Really the most extraordinary attraction of the season will be presented at the New Opera House on Saturday, June 9th on which occasion Manager Butler, has booked S. Lubin's wonderful Life Motion Pictures of the Great San Francisco Earthquake and Fire. A great many people skeptically inclined, are apt to wonder how it is possible for any Moving Picture Film to get the actuaal views of the destruction. In this case it would have been an impossibility, only for the fact that Mr. Lubin, who is known, is the pioneer of this enterprise and the largest manufacturer in the world; has in every large city a corps of operators ready at all times to get new and interesting views. They were first on the ground and these pictures or rather part of them were first shown at Keith's Theatre, at Philadelphia during the week of May 7th. You see everything just as it was. First destruction by earthquake. The great buildings swayed like reeds in a storm. They callapse. Then the unrush of the flames. The people fleeing for their lives. The arrival of the soldiers. The relief trains and all the scenes and incidents that went to make up the greatest calamity ever known in our country.

Dr. Leon Rex Felt Located.

Dr. Leon Rex Felt and wife have returned from Florida, where they pass the winter months, basking among the orange groves. They stopped for a time in Philadelphia while the Dr. took a post-graduate course in porcelain work. Dr. Felt graduated from the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1905, and now returns to his home town to practice his profession, having fitted and furnished rooms in the Rockwell block in elegant style, having purchased an entirely new and elaborate outfit of the latest appliances he is now ready for appointments. Dr. Felt is a son of our esteemed citizens, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pitt Felt, and bears and excellent reputation. We bespeak for him a cordial reception and liberal patronage.

Let the Band Play.

The band will give a concert on the lawn in front of J. F. Parsons' residence on the evening of Flag Day. They will also play for the lawn fete on the M. E. Church lawn this Thursday evening. We are informed they are preparing to give weekly concerts in different parts of the town.

A Bad Accident.

Wednesday afternoon a Hungarian boy named Martin Shear, jumped into a wagon loaded with sand and as it was passing the store of M. T. Hogan, the lad fell off, and the hind wheel of the wagon passed over his abdomen. Remarkable as it may seem, he jumped up and ran as far as the corner of Maple and Fourth streets, when he fell. Dr. DeLong, who attended the boy, informs us that he was seriously injured, and there are small hopes of his recovery.

Grocery Advertising.

The Philadelphia Record which very often gives excellent information concerning advertising recently gave a tip to some advertising managers may act upon with good results. "Grocery advertising," says the Record, "has still to reach the development of that of the department store. The main thing is to have a bargain to make a newspaper display. One grocer could not get rid of a stock of small oranges. He offered them in striking type at 40 cents a peck. They sold quickly. While he realized about as much as if they had been sold by the dozen, his store had the benefit of an effective advertisement." Some wise grocer, says Newspaperdom, may take advantage of publicity and make a fortune.

Sinnamahoning vs Driftwood.

For the second time this season, the Sinnamahoning boys, under the leadership of Jim Russell, demonstrated their superiority over Driftwood by defeating them Saturday afternoon on their own grounds, score 11 to 2. Rimer, Sinnamahoning's star twirler, was a complete enigma to the home players, they being unable to secure more than two hits off his delivery. Riley for the home team was very effective in all but the first five innings in which he officiated. Score:

Cure for Crow's Feet.

The following little sermon may be taken to heart by man as well as woman. In business or the home life it is equally applicable and breathes of the best spirit to be preserved in all vicissitudes of life: "Be sunny" has grown to be something of a catchword, but it is a pretty good all-around motto for everyday life as well. The cook may have gone away in a temper on the very day of your dinner party—it's a way cooks have—or the dressmaker may have failed to send home your new frock in time for Mrs. So-and-So's reception, but frowns and tears and grumblings will not help matters in either case. It may be that the world contains other cooks, or even that the same one may be induced to return in time to save the day. And if not, why not pitch right in and do the best you can yourself with the best grace you can muster? If your dinner does not turn out quite as well as you would like, just make a joke of the whole affair and let your guests laugh with you. Bless you, they too, have troubles of their own and they will relish almost any sort of a repast that is served with laughter sauce. And as for the dress that did not come, why, since you must do without it in any event, just do without it cheerfully. You have other frocks, possibly, and if you furbish one of them up a bit and wear it with your lightest heart and your gladdest smile, people will simply wonder why they never knew before how pretty you are and how tastefully you dress. That is, the people who count for anything. And as for the others, who cares about what they think, any way? There are recipes by the score for eradicating wrinkles and keeping crows' feet at bay; but a cheerful mind discounts all of them. It isn't easy to be cheerful when things go wrong, you say. No; but it doesn't help any to be grumpy, does it? Then, in the expressive slang of the day, "forget it." Cheerfulness is a habit, just as much as worrying—only it is a good deal pleasanter for yourself and everybody else. Get the habit, then; and the first thing you know the worries will have taken flight. They can not stand sunshine. In a cheerful atmosphere they find themselves so distinctly "out of it" that they prefer to make themselves scarce. Therefore, be cheerful. It may cost you something at first, but it will pay in the end. How to manage it? Look out instead of in. You are not the only human creature who has troubles. Every woman has them—and most men—so you can not lay claim to exclusiveness along this line. But the world is a pretty good world, on the whole, and you will enjoy it more than you do now when you begin to look out on it with unclouded eyes. Leave the house or the office or the schoolroom behind you once in a while and take a breathing spell out in the open. And when you do go out, do not always go shopping. Don't bother with bargain days unless you really want something that you can't buy any other time. And even at the bargain counter be sunny. It may seem difficult, but it isn't nearly as difficult as it seems if you only start trying it.

Discipine of Failure.

The best skating is always on thin ice—we like to feel it crack and yield under our feet; there is a deadly fascination in the thought of the 20 or 40 feet of cold water beneath. Last year's mortality list, says a writer in The Reader, cuts (dare I do it?) no ice with us; we must make our own experiments, while Dr. Experience screams himself hoarse from his bonfire on the bank. He has held many an inquest on this darkling shore of the river of time, and he will undoubtedly live to hold many another; but thus far we have not been the subjects; and when it comes to the mistakes of others we are all delighted to serve on the coroner's jury. It isn't well for us to be saved from too many blunders; we need the discipline of failure. It is better to fail than never to try, and the man who can contemplate the graveyard of his own hopes without bitterness will not always be ignored by the gods of success.

CHIEF OFFENDER ATTACKED

President Roosevelt's Method of Dealing with Enemies of the People.

It is characteristic of President Roosevelt's courage that in leading the people's attack against the lawless he has selected the offender that is chief in power and in pernicious influence. It is characteristic of the president's directness that he has mentioned that offender by name, and it is characteristic of his fidelity that he proposes to use all the available power of the government to undo the misdoing and to punish the misdoer.

It has been the general belief, says the Troy Times, that the Standard Oil company has been amassing great wealth by crushing out competition, and by the employment for this end of illegal combinations and agreements. The thorough and untiring investigation made by Commissioner Garfield, of the bureau of corporations, has amassed facts which prove that secret rebates granted by the Standard Oil company and oppressive discrimination in open rates have given to that enormous corporation a decisive and overwhelming advantage over competitors. It is shown in illustration that rates only one-third of what was charged to other shippers were given to the Standard Oil company in this state.

President Roosevelt has informed congress of the facts and justly described the situation as a "characteristic example of the numerous evils which are inevitable under a system in which the big shipper and the railroad are left free to crush out all individual initiative and all power of independent action because of the absence of adequate and thorough-going governmental control."

The president rightly holds that so outrageous a breach of equity in the encratchment upon popular right and so gross a violation of the principles of business fairness constitute a blow at the people and a menace to the purposes which the American government was established to maintain and defend. The president suggests, therefore, that to an administrative agency be given power to control and check the treacherous abuses of such a corporation as the one under review, and plainly indicates his willingness to use all the means open to the executive to attack this organized injustice and to protect its victims among the business interests and the individual consumers of the country.

Great offenses deserve heroic remedies, and, as the president says, any injustice which may be predicted of an administrative commission would not begin to be so outrageously cruel as what has already been proved against one of the big corporations of this country.

A LIVE ISSUE CERTAINLY.

From Present Indications the Tariff Will Be Much in Evidence.

If saying so would only make it so, there would be much cause for gratification in the opinion expressed by the Pittsburg Press.

"The tariff involves at most no fundamental principle. It is merely an administrative question, within certain lines. Not even the most emphatic revisionists have the temerity to demand free trade. All they want is a readjustment of schedules. They admit that the country is prosperous and that the protective principle underlying our tariff policy should not be disturbed. Manifestly, then, the tariff is a question which can and will wait. There are a dozen other matters more pressingly in need of regulation. Tariff revision talk now would induce sleep anywhere, from a crossroads political meeting to the president's cabinet."

Nevertheless, says the American Economist, there is much tariff revision talk going on right now, and the talkers are not talking in their sleep, either. They, at least, are very much awake. It is the published purpose of the American Reciprocal Tariff league to secure the election this year of the largest possible number of Republican congressmen pledged to immediate tariff revision. Cummins, Guild, Foss, McCall and the rest of the "progressives" will help all they can. If this purpose should succeed in, say, 50 congress districts—and it will succeed in more than 50 districts if the friends of tariff stability are not alert—the way would be open to a general attack on the Dingley schedules. From present appearances the tariff will be an exceedingly live issue in the campaign of 1906.

☞If Great Britain were managing this republic of ours her statesmen would advocate that if we have commerce and labor enough for our own people, sufficient to keep everybody constantly employed—we had better hold on to it.—Des Moines Capital.

☞They are wise friends who know when they have a good tariff—a better tariff than any that would be tinkered up by "reformers" and "progressives" with as many different notions as there are holders of those notions. They are wise friends who know when to let a good tariff alone. —American Economist.

TARIFF REPEAL NOT NEEDED

San Francisco Should Not Be Rebuilt with Steel from Abroad.

We do not believe San Francisco is a party to the cry for a repeal of the tariff on structural steel while the city is rebuilding. There is no occasion for such repeal, says the Pittsburg Gazette. American manufacturers can supply the demand. Pittsburg mills can do it and would set other work aside if necessary that rebuilding should not be retarded. This at prices hardly greater than would be paid for foreign material if the tariff should be removed. In a recent hearing before the committee on merchant marine and fisheries, Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, quoted the prices in this country and abroad. By that statement it may seen the export prices of Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria and Belgium on structural shapes range from $1.25 to $1.45, while the American price is about $1.60. Adding freight, the price, delivered, would give no appreciable advantage to the San Francisco builders, but might take much money from this country.

President Roosevelt rejected foreign contributions to the relief fund and it would be a remarkable exhibit on the part of contress to extend an invitation to foreign manufacturers to supply the material for rebuilding the city. While Germany is building its tariff wall higher and is paying a bounty on steel exports, to enable her manufacturers to quote low prices, there is no call for the United States to open the door even in the face of calamity. Great Britain is not in position to furnish the material more promptly than this country can, and having a higher production cost and no bounty, could not compete with Germany in the bidding.

Should material be brought from abroad it would benefit neither the railroads nor the industrial concerns which have given so liberally to the sufferers. All would come direct by water in foreign bottoms. San Francisco would be ashamed to rebuild with foreign steel. The members of congress who introduced the bills declare that they did so under the misapprehension that American mills could not supply the demand. That impression having been corrected, there is just one proper course to take. That is to withdraw the bills and let the matter drop. No hardship will be imposed thereby on the San Francisco rebuilders.

DEMAND NOT POPULAR.

Change of the Dingley Schedules Not Called for by the People in General.

No Republican from Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Iowa or anywhere else who has assailed the tariff this year has voiced the view of the Republican party. The Dingley act has been in operation nine years. It has had a longer life than the Wilson-Gorman law which it displaced. Also it has lived longer than did the McKinley act, which the Democrats repealed when they put the Wilson-Gorman law on the statute book. So, likewise, it has been with us for more years than was the act of 1883, which the McKinley law succeeded. Dingley's tariff has had a longer career than any other law in its field since Morrill's, which was passed in 1861. But the Dingley act continues to give a good account of itself, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. It furnishes both revenue and protection, and the Wilson act provided neither the one nor the other. Nothing that any Democrat has ever said against the Dingley law has been as severe as Cleveland's denunciation of the Democratic Wilson-Gorman act, the "party perfidy and party dishonor law," which Cleveland contemptuously refused to sign, but let it get on the statute book through the expiration of the ten days' time limit. There is no popular demand among the Republicans for the repeal or material modification of the Dingley tariff. On the contrary, any tampering with that act at this time would arouse Republican hostility all over the country. No Republican who assails it can long maintain his standing in the party. A Democratic assault on either the tariff or the flag in the Philippines in the congressional canvass of 1906 would insure a Republican majority in the elections which would make all the off-year Republican margins since 1894 look narrow.

☞Democrats are inclined to say that as the speaker opposes revision and says that congress must represent the desires of the American people, he in effect makes tariff revision the issue in the coming elections, placing the Republican party absolutely in the stand-pat attitude and the Democrats for revision. Whether this be so or not it is fairly certain that there will be no tariff revision at this session of congress. Let well enough alone seems a good enough adage to steer by.—Oswego Times.

☞In the meantime Col. Bryan is in blissful ignorance of the fact that his articles on the Philippines are attracting practically no attention. There are so many things happening of real interest now.—Kansas City Journal.

☞And, pray, what part or parts of the tariff would the Democrats revise? Our Democratic brethren of the West Virginia press have no specific complaint so far as the Intelligencer can see. Do they, for instance, want to chop the tariff from coal, from lumber, from glass or from pottery? We pause for a reply.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

Suffered for Three Years with Itching Humor—Cruiser Newark U. S. N. Man Cured—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"I suffered with humor for about three years off and on. I finally saw a doctor and he gave me remedies that did me no good, so I tried Cuticura when my limb below the knee to the ankle was as raw as a piece of beef. All I used was the Cuticura Soap and the Ointment. I bathed with Cuticura Soap every day, and used about six or seven boxes of Cuticura Ointment. I was thoroughly cured of the humor in three weeks, and haven't been affected with it since. I use no other Soap than Cuticura now. H. J. Myers, U. S. N., U. S. S. Newark, New York, July 8, 1905."

Prince Von Bulow, the German chancellor, who was overcome by a fainting spell while delivering an address in the reichstag recently, is a political personality scarcely less interesting than was his great predecessor Bismarck. In spite of his well-known and ardent patriotism his courtesy to France on one occasion drew from another member of the reichstag the remark that "Herr Von Bulow thinks in French or Italian and then translates into German." He was twice offered the rank of prince before accepting.

Sir Edward Clarke, the brilliant member of parliament who is making his presence felt by denouncing the idea of a tax on meat or corn, started as a jeweler's assistant in his father's store. Now his income as a lawyer is $150,000 a year and he is one of the few men who have refused a judgeship.

Sir John Fisher has been promoted to the rank of admiral of the English fleet. He practically created the present British navy, and has impregnated it with the scientific spirit, and it is due to him that the naval officers of to-day must, in addition to being seamen, be gunners, soldiers, engineers and men of science.

BREAD DYSPEPSIA.

The Digesting Element Left Out.

Bread dyspepsia is common. It affects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper.

Up under the shell of the wheat berry nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the pancreatic juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape-sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so nature's valuable digester is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, peritonitis, constipation and all sorts of trouble exist when we go so contrary to nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts Food, knowing these facts, made use in their experiments of the entire wheat and barley, including all the parts, and subjected them to moisture and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape-sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape-sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food therefore is naturally pre-digested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race to-day.

The eeffct of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.

Radium is a substance millions of times more powerful than dynamite. It is estimated that an ounce of radium would contain enough power to raise 10,000 tons a mile above the earth's surface. The energy needed to tow a ship of 12,000 tons a distance of 6,000 sea miles at 15 knots is contained in 22 ounces of radium.

When the pope received the French bishops recently they could not understand his disclosures, so strong is his Venetian accent. But it is the thing now in the Vatican to speak with a little of that accent. Venetian dishes are in vogue, and in the houses of rich Romans Venetian antiquities are made prominent.

In England no arrests may be made on a Sunday, except for treason, felony, or a breach of the peace; and freedom from arrest at any time on civil process is a privilege enjoyed by members of the royal family and their servants, bishops, peers and peeresses, and members of parliament during the sitting of parliament and 40 days before and after each session.

There are two sorts of tattooing in use among the women of the Congo. One is common to all the members of the same tribe, and indicates the origin and birthplace of the subject. It is an infallible and perpetual certificate of birth and nationality. The other sort of tattooing is simply fantasy and coquetry. The women mark upon their bodies the epochs of their existence.

The early Greeks and Romans rode horses bareback. They regarded it as unmanly to ride in a saddle. In fact, the modern saddle with pommel, crupper and stirrups was unknown to the ancients. Nero gave out fancy coverings to his cavalry, and the bareback riders of the German forests used to laugh at them. Saddles with trees came into use in the fourth century; stirrups three centuries later.

The greatest dental operation on record was performed upon an elephant in the City of Mexico. The aching tooth was 12 inches long and 14 inches in diameter at the root. After Mr. Elephant had been securely fastened with chains his mouth was pried open and a quantity of cocaine applied to deaden the pain. When this was done a hole was bored through the tooth and an iron bar inserted. Then a rope was twisted around the bar and four horses attached and started, and the tooth gave way like pulling stumps.

All the automobile endurance contests are thrown into the shade by the remarkable performance of Emil Boulhours, of Paris, who rode a bicycle 815 miles and 291 yards in 24 hours, at the remarkable average rate of 34 hours an hour. When one considers the delays and the stops entailed in such a race it means that for hours the rider must have been pedaling his bicycle at the rate of 50 miles an hour, and sometimes even faster than that. The strain on the system to withstand this must be severe and certainly felt by the rider.

Horseshoes, such as we have, are also rather modern. The Greeks and Romans used to cover their horses' feet with fiber cloth in cold weather, or when urging the horses through muddy and miry places. Nero's horses were shod without nails, but with silver. His wife's were shod in gold. The shoeing of horses by driving nails through their hoofs was introduced into England by William the Conqueror. But even in the middle centuries horses were shod only on special occasions, which was done more for style.

HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE. CONFINED TO HER BED WITH DYSPEPSIA.

"I Owe My Life to Pe-ru-na," Says Mrs. Huffaker.

Mrs. Mittie Huffaker, R. R. No. 3, Columbia, Tenn., writes:

"I was afflicted with dyspepsia for several years and at last was confined to my bed, unable to sit up.

"We tried several different doctors without relief.

"I had given up all hope of any relief and was almost dead when my husband bought me a bottle of Peruna.

"At first I could not notice any benefit, but after taking several bottles I was cured sound and well.

"It is to Peruna I owe my life today.

"I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers."

Revised Formula.

"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Peruna be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Peruna that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character.

"White Disease" in Africa.

Sir Harry Johnston, the famous explorer, once escaped from a very tight corner in Africa by a queer stratagem. A score or two of murderous natives had surrounded his tent, into which, before rushing it, they sent an envoy. The envoy was told the smallpox was in camp, and a wretched Albino was sent out as the awful example. In five minutes the scared tribesmen had vanished. As Sir Harry well knew, they feared the "white disease" more than all the inventions of Maxim.

CAME EASILY

Mr. Patton Got $307,000 in Coal Stock.

FREE OF ALL COST.

An Assistant to President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Testifies Unwillingly.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Further revelations concerning stockholdings in soft coal mining companies by officials of the Pennsylvania railroad were made Wednesday when the inter-state commerce commission resumed its investigation into the alleged discrimination by railroads in the distribution of cars.

Three high officials of the railroad, First Vice President John P. Green, Third Vice President Samuel Rea and William A. Patton, assistant to President Cassatt, were the important witnesses of the day.

Mr. Patton was under examination the greater part of the morning and was an unwilling witness. The persistent questioning of Attorney Glasgow, for the commission, however, brought out the fact that Mr. Patton had acquired stock the par value of which is $307,000 in various coal companies without cost to himself. He explained, however, that he had signed notes obligating himself for his share of the losses and declared his belief that it was proper for him to accept the stock under those conditions.

Vice President Rea read a statement to the commission in which he explained all of his stock transactions, stating that he did not believe he was debarred from such ownership because of his connection with the railroad company. Mr. Rea said that most of his stock was acquired through his association with land purchasing syndicates which took up the coal properties for development.

Vice President Green said that 30 years ago it was not considered improper for an official of the railroad to own coal company stock, but that conditions had changed and such holdings might not now be regarded in the same light as formerly. He informed the commission that the board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad, acting upon the information that had been brought out at the hearings, had appointed a committee of five directors to make an investigation into the connection of its officials with coal companies. Mr. Green said he did not own a dollar's worth of coal company stock.

ISTHMIAN CANAL AFFAIRS.

Mr. Wallace Scores Secretary Taft—Sentiment in Favor of Sea Level Canal Grows in the Senate.

Washington, D. C.—Former Chief Engineer John F. Wallace, of the isthmian canal, on Wednesday addressed a letter to Senator Millard, chairman of the committee on interoceanic canals, in reply to Secretary Taft's recent testimony before that committee, in which he charges Secretary Taft with having abused his official position in order to make a second assault upon him and to place in a public record statements "calculated and apparently intended to affect my reputation for veracity."

He also imputes to Gov. Magoon a breach of confidence in having advised him to take a certain course of action and then anticipating it by secretly writing to Secretary Taft.

While expressly stating that he bears no ill will toward William Nelson Cromwell, Mr. Wallace speaks of the bias of Secretary Taft in favor of that gentleman and says that Taft was aware that Mr. Cromwell, among other things, was trying to secure the payment by the United States of an improper claim which, however, was afterwards disallowed by the president.

A growing sentiment in the senate in favor of making the proposed canal appropriation applicable only to the construction of a sea level canal across the isthmus of Panama, in accordance with the majority report of the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals, is proving embarrassing to the administration, which is committed to the lock type. President Roosevelt on Wednesday discussed the subject with senate leaders who called at the White House, and apparently he is much concerned as to the outcome.

As the result of the president's inquiry an attempt was made to ascertain how the senate stands on the question of canal type. There were too many absentees to make an effective poll.

AFFIRMS BURTON DECISION

Kansas Senator Must Serve Six Months in Jail and Pay Fine, Besides Losing Office.

Washington.—The supreme court of the United States Monday rendered a decision in the case of United States Senator Ralph Burton, of Kansas. The decision was against Burton, affirming the decision of the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Missouri, by which Burton was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the jail of Iron county, Mo., required to pay a fine of $2,500 and deprived of the right to hereafter hold office under the government. The opinion was by Justice Harlan. All of the points made in Burton's interest were overruled.

Senator Burton was prosecuted on the charge of violating Section 1782 of the revised statutes, which prohibits senators and representatives from receiving compensation for services rendered before any of the government departments in any matter in which the government may be interested. He was specifically charged with accepting a fee of $500 per month for five months from the Rialto Grain & Securities company, of St. Louis, for services rendered that company in an effort to prevent the issuance of an order by the post office department prohibiting the use of the mails by the company.

Immediately after promulgating its decision in the Burton case the supreme court of the United States Monday granted a motion to give 60 days to Senator Burton in which to prepare a petition for a rehearing. The action will have the effect of taking the case over until the next term of court beginning in October, as the present term will expire next Monday.

CHURCH TO QUIT BUSINESS

Mormon Leaders to Dispose of Great Co-Operative Store and Other Holdings in Utah.

Salt Lake City.—The Mormon church is going out of business, according to a local paper. Its principal holding in Salt Lake City, the Utah Light and Railway company, is to be taken over by a $25,000,000 corporation composed of English and American capitalists.

If this policy is completely carried out, the sale of the traction interests will be followed by the sale of stocks in banks, sugar factories, the great Zion cooperative mercantile institution department store, and many smaller enterprises. It will be nothing less than a commercial revolution which will profoundly affect the political and social life of the state.

Simultaneously the announcement is made that the Salt Lake & Los Angeles railroad, another church property, has been sold to a local syndicate for $500,000. This road is 13 miles in length, and runs from the city to the lake.

President Joseph F. Smith, of the Mormon church, is quoted as saying that the divorce of religion from business is made on account of the fact that the Mormons whom the church sought to protect years ago no longer need the protection of the church in business affairs. The church entered business, he says, to assist converts and strangers belonging to the church, but as they are now on a firm footing the church withdraws from business entirely.

GROWTH OF THE TELEPHONE

Nearly Two Million and a Half Instruments in Use in the United States.

Washington.—A special report on telephones and telegraphs for 1901 has been issued by the census office. It shows that in 1902 the telephone systems of the country operated more than three-fourths of the wire mileage reported for both telephones and telegraphs, gave employment to seven-tenths of the wage earners, and paid more than two-thirds of the wages, received more than two-thirds of the total revenue, and paid more than two-thirds of the total expenses.

For the commercial systems the mileage was 4,779,571, and the number of telephones 2,225,981; for the mutual systems the mileage was 70,915, and the number of telephones 89,316; and for the independent lines the mileage was 49,965, and the number of telephones 55,747.

"DEVILFISH"

Independent Oil Man So Calls Standard Co.

A NINE-YEAR FIGHT

The History Thereof Is Told to the Inter-State Commission at a Session in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O.—Calling the Standard Oil Co. a "devilfish," Louis F. Emory, a veteran independent oil man of Bradford, Pa., was the most important witness before the interstate commerce commission at its inquiry into the methods of the oil trust in Cleveland Thursday. Emory, who promoted a rival pipe line company to compete with the Standard in the carrying of oil from western Pennsylvania to tidewater, told the commission of a fight lasting for nine years, during which period he was combated by the Standard with all the resources at its command. He told how their property had been destroyed by men in the employ of the Standard, and legal processes were used to drive the independents out of New Jersey, thus closing their outlet to the seaboard. The fight, he said, cost the independents nearly a million dollars, but they were finally victorious.

Emory told how the Pennsylvania and other railroads forced him to close a refinery at Philadelphia by refusing to give him cars. Nearly 1,000 cars, he said, were shipped out of the state and scattered idle over the country. This testimony was taken over the protest of the Standard Oil that it had been heard by the industrial commission.

"When certain wells were drilled near Bradford," said Emory, "we sent the oil to Bradford at 25 cents a barrel. This was over the Pennsylvania railroad.

"A small line agreed to carry the oil for ten cents until the Pennsylvania by threats of withdrawing their traffic agreement made them refuse to give us this rate.

"We were forced to build a 19-mile pipe line at a cost of $22,000. Then the Vacuum Pipe Line Co. came to drive us out, and the Pennsylvania railroad gave them a right of way and permission to build their tanks along the tracks.

"Jerry Burns, now a Standard Oil employe, was employed by our independent company as a shipper at $75 a month. I don't know how much he got from the Standard, but every night he made his report to the Standard office at Bradford."

T. G. Westgate, an independent oil refiner and producer of Titusville, Pa., the first witness who testified before the commission Thursday, was closely questioned by Commissioner Prouty and by Chief Counsel Marchand in reference to the shipment of oil in tank cars, but his testimony on that subject was not particularly enlightening.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED REBATERS.

Sensational Statements Are Made by Kansas City Merchants.

Kansas City, Mo.—Members of half a dozen large business firms admitted here on Thursday at the trial in the federal court of George H. Crosby, the Burlington traffic manager; George L. Thomas, the New York freight broker, and the latter's clerk, L. B. Taggart, that they had received thousands of dollars in commissions from "unknown sources." All of the firms had hired Thomas to attend to the shipping of goods from the Atlantic seaboard to St. Louis and Kansas City, but none of the witnesses would say that the money came from Thomas.

J. K. Burnham, president of the Burnham, Hanna & Munger Dry Goods Co., of Kansas City, testified to hiring Thomas at a salary of $1,000 a year, and admitted having received $43,000 from Thomas in the past three years, supposedly for mistakes in classification, claims for damage, etc.

W. E. Emery, a member of the Emery, Bird & Thayer Dry Goods Co., of Kansas City, had hired Thomas at a salary of $500 a year and for a period of four or five years had received between $1,500 and $2,000 a year at his New York office. The money was given him by a man to him unknown, but he supposed it had come from Thomas.

Several officials of the Burlington railroad were examined and their testimony developed the fact that vouchers for the payment of the commissions had disappeared.

TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

I am directed by the Republican State Committee to announce that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in convention at the Lyceum theatre in the city of Harrisburg, on Wednesday, June 6, 1906, at 10:30 a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices, viz:

One person for the office of Governor;

One person for the office of Lieutenant-Governor;

One person for the office of Auditor-General.

One person for the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs; and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.

In accordance with the rules governing the party, the representation in the State Convention will be based upon the vote polled at the last Presidential election. Under the rules each legislative district is intitled to one delegate for each two thousand votes cast for Republican electors in 1904, and an additional delegate for every fraction of two thousand votes polled in excess of one thousand.

By order of the State Committee,
W. R. ANDREWS, Chairman.

Not if as Rich as Rockefeller.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physicians can not prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

When a man is in the right he can afford to await his turn.

It is possible to obtain relief from chronic indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA. Some of the most hopeless cases of long standing have yielded to it. It enables you to digest the food you eat and exercises a corrective influence, building up the efficiency of the digestive organs. The stomach is the boiler wherein the steam is made that keeps up your vitality, health and strength. Kodol digests what you eat. Makes the stomach sweet—puts the boiler in condition to do the work nature demands of it—gives you relief from digestive disorders, and puts you in shape to do your best, and feel your best. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Thunders of applause give no promise of showers of blessings.

It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

How often do we hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

PEOPLE'S DEMAND IS BEING HEARD

Party Lash Will Not Be Used in Approaching Convention.

BOSSES HAVE LEARNED LESSON

Fair Field and No Favors Accorded to All—Thompson of Fayette Seems to Meet Requirements of Situation Best—Is Close to the People.

Pittsburg, May 30.—The political discord which has prevailed in almost every section of Pennsylvania during the past year or more has forced the Republican leaders of the state to "stop, look and listen," and it is now apparent that further confusion in the party's affairs is to be avoided by the people coming wholly and entirely into their own. With the Republican state convention but a week away it is most pleasing to the voters to realize that no slate has been made for the coming convention and that no slate is likely to be made which does not come direct from the people. The party lash has gone out of fashion and the voice of the political boss is no longer heard. The right to slate or name candidates for public places, always inherent in the people, is now being recognized more than in years and the belief is general that at the coming convention of the Republicans of the state the voice of the people will be heard in no uncertain way and that the candidates for governor and other state places will be chosen at the Harrisburg convention next week by the duly elected delegates to that important gathering. The bosses of former days have wisely determined to stand aside in the interest of party harmony and graciously yield to the nomination of a state ticket which will restore harmony to the grand old party and which will promote the success of that party which in the past has made substantially for the advancement of every material interest in this state and this nation.

To the people it must be pleasing to realize that just now when party harmony most needs consideration the Republicans of the state are turning with hope and confidence to Josiah Van Kirk Thompson, the banker, philanthropist and advance agent of prosperity.

JOSIAH VAN KIRK THOMPSON.

Mr. Thompson is one of the most conspicuous figures in Pennsylvania. He comes from the plain people and he has always been with them and for them. He has been eminently successful in his own affairs and detests and hates dishonor and discredit. By his own individual efforts he chiseled out of the rock of opposition a commanding place in public affairs, yet he is as modest as a woman. He enjoys the polish of a collegiate, has keen business sense and is broad-gauged and wonderfully capable. He is educated and is the firm friend of education. He was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college and that great institution has shared liberally in the brilliant success of his life. Mr. Thompson has brought to hundreds of his business associates substantial means and those who know him best appreciate him most for his plain honesty and his disposition to play absolutely fairly with everybody His hand, made powerful by his own industry, has never been extended to oppress. "Joe" Thompson, as he is known by his neighbors of all political faiths, is beyond question closer to the people than any other prominent Republican in Pennsylvania and those about him, great or mean, have found him always helpful. He is just as rich morally and physically as he is financially and among the Republicans generally he is looked upon as the man of the hour. He is as big as the office he seeks and no combination of political place hunters could be formed which would discredit a single one of his sterling qualities. He fits in to the general demand for reform in the affairs of the state. He answers in detail every suggestion now being made by those concerned for political betterment and he rises, a mental and physical giant, to the demands of the whole people. The indications are that Mr. Thompson will be the Republican nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania. Should he be nominated his triumphant election is assured.

BENJAMIN W. GREEN,

Republican Candidate for Judge of this 25th Judicial District.

Whose Key Unlocked the Drawer?

Here is a true story told by a doctor. This doctor had a patient, a brother physician, who was ill of a disease no one has ever cured yet. The sick man realized that his case was hopeless, and he knew, too, that before he died he would go through horrible convulsions. He begged his friend to kill him in order to spare his wife the sight of anything so unforgettably hideous, and the physician, bound by his code of ethics, refused. The sick man begged his wife to let him have his revolver, but she refused. The physician locked the drawer of the bureau in which it lay and gave the wife the key. Two days later the sick man shot himself, and the revolver he used was his own. He had unlocked the drawer.

"We found the key in it," said the doctor. "It was not the one I had given to the wife. I took it, and when I had a chance I went quietly into the room occupied by the man's mother. The key exactly fitted the lock of her bureau. That's all I know, except that the mother came out of the house with her bonnet and cloak on two minutes before her son shot himself."—Washington Post.

Half Deaf People.

"If you are deaf in one ear," said the boilermaker, "I don't care about giving you a job."

"Why?" asked the applicant.

"Because you can't tell what direction sounds come from; hence in a place like this you would be in great danger."

"How do you know I can't tell what direction sounds come from?" the applicant demanded.

"No person deaf in one ear," replied the boilermaker, "can do so. A man deaf in one ear will look behind him if a gun goes off on his right. He will look up in the air if a child shrieks at his feet. He will look wildly in front of him if a locomotive whistles in his rear. A boiler shop is no place for such a man."

"I knew I was like this," said the applicant, "but I didn't know all half deaf people were."

"They all are," said the boilermaker, "and my shop is no place for them."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

All a Matter of Doubt Anyway.

A young man from the south who a few years ago was so fortunate as to be enabled to enter the law offices of a well known New York firm was first intrusted with a very simple case. He was asked by the late James C. Carter, then a member of the firm, to give an opinion in writing. When this was submitted it was observed by Mr. Carter that, with the touching confidence of a neophyte, the young southerner had begun with the expression, "I am clearly of opinion."

When this caught his eye he smiled and said:

"My dear young friend, never state that you are clearly of opinion on a law point. The most you can hope to discover is the preponderance of the doubt."—Success.

Out of the Public.

When I was a very little boy, writes Sir William Gregory in his autobiography, my grandfather, who was then undersecretary for Ireland, took me to the chief secretary's room in Dublin castle and formally introduced me to Lord Melbourne.

After I had been with him for some little time he said, "Now, my boy, is there anything here you would like?"

"Yes," I answered, pointing to a very large stick of sealing wax.

"That's right," said Lord Melbourne, pressing on me a bundle of pens; "begin life early. All these things belong to the public, and your business must always be to get out of the public as much as you can."—Pearson's Weekly.

Drudgery.

The everyday cares and duties which men call drudgery are the weights and counterpoises of the clock of time, giving its pendulum a true vibration and its hands a regular motion, and when they cease to hang upon its wheels the pendulum no longer swings, the hands no longer move, the clock stands still.—Longfellow.

Trouble For Government Clerks.

"Congress makes lots of unnecessary trouble for the government clerks," said a veteran employee, "but the worst case I know of occurred some years ago. A certain senator asked the comptroller of the currency to tell him how much stock a certain man had in a national bank. He was informed that such information was regarded as confidential and could not be given out."

"We'll see about that," said the senator, who was plainly disappointed and displeased.

"Several days later he secured the passage of a resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury to furnish the senate with the names and holdings of the stockholders in all the national banks in the country. He really wanted to know only the interest of one man in a bank, but he knew that he couldn't get a resolution of that kind through the senate, so he included the stockholders in all national banks. It took the entire force of the comptroller's office several weeks to prepare the information, and when it reached the senate nobody paid any attention to it except the author of the resolution, and he merely looked at the mass of papers only long enough to see about the man he was after and then tossed the papers aside. It was an immense lot of work for nothing."—Washington Star.

The Abbe's Criticism.

An American lady residing in Rome presented to a friend, who is an abbe, an intellectual man and familiar with English, although no traveler, a copy of one of Mary Wilkins' New England stories.

"The author of this, my dear friend," she said, "is the best portrayer of New England character we have. No other writer has caught so well the charm of the place and the people. I hope you will like it."

The abbe took the book and thanked her. In a few days he came again and returned it gingerly, saying a word or two of thanks.

"Were you not pleased with the quaint portrayal of the life?" asked the lady.

"You say this is a faithful portrayal of life in New England?"

"Very faithful indeed."

The abbe sighed and said, with deep sympathy, "How sad!"—Reader Magazine.

The Curse of Shiftlessness.

Whether shiftlessness is a vice that is incurable or a habit that can be overcome, it is anyhow a condition that perplexes and irritates relieving officials. Shiftlessness is paying one's last 50 cents for a circus ticket without learning where tomorrow's breakfast is coming from. It is a refusal to repair the leak in the roof when the sun shines. It is killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. It takes no thought of the morrow. It never lays up anything for a rainy day. It always ignores opportunities. It prefers to rely on neighborhood bounty to hustling for itself. It won't work, except under the pressure of necessity. It never gets ahead.—Hartford Times.

Man Who Beheaded Charles I.

The mysterious masked man who beheaded Charles I. remains British analogue for the Man With the Iron Mask. Lilly, the lying astrologer, denounced Cornet Joyce at the restoration, but Joyce on the fatal 30th of January was not in favor with Cromwell. The parish register of Whitechapel records the burial in 1649 of Richard Brandon, the common hangman, and opposite the entry a contemporary hand wrote that "he cut off the head of Charles the First." Brandon himself asserted that "they made him do it for £30," with which he drank himself to death.—Dundee Advertiser.

Unexpected.

"Can your wife make as good pies as your mother did?"

"Yes, indeed. Mother uses my wife's recipe."—Cleveland Free Press.

Assistant Fool Makers.

It doesn't take much of a girl to make a fool of any man. Nature did so much.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Webster Beaten by a Woman.

In the somewhat famous case of Mrs. Bodgen's will, which was tried in the supreme court many years ago, Daniel Webster appeared as counselor for the appellant. Mrs. Greenough, wife of the Rev. William Greenough of West Newton, was a very self possessed witness. Notwithstanding Mr. Webster's repeated efforts to disconcert her she pursued the even tenor of her way until Webster, becoming quite fearful of the result, arose, apparently in great agitation, and, drawing out his large snuffbox, thrust his thumb and finger to the very bottom and, carrying a deep pinch to both nostrils, drew it up with gusto, and then, extracting from his pocket a very large handkerchief, he blew his nose with a report that rang distinct and loud through the crowded hall.

He then asked, "Mrs. Greenough, was Mrs. Bodgen a neat woman?"

"I cannot give you full information as to that, sir. She had one very dirty trick," replied the witness.

"What was that, ma'am?"

"She took snuff!"—Boston Herald.

Pathos In a Name.

A speaker at a Methodist conference told this story, which, he said, was related to him by Bishop Hartzell: "The bishop, while on a southern tour, met a darky who was the father of sixteen children, the youngest of whom was scarcely out of arms, and on asking him what the youngster's name was received this reply, 'Judas 'Scariot, sah.' 'You don't mean to tell me that that is really his baptismal name, do you?' asked the bishop. 'Indeed, I do, sah. Ain't dat a Script'ral name?' 'Yes; but do you know who Judas Iscariot was?' ''Course I does, sah; but doan de Scripture say it would have been better for Judas 'Scariot if he had never been borned?' 'Yes; but what has that to do with this poor little chap?' 'Dat's jest it, sah; dat's jest it. It would have been better for dis poor little chap if he had never been borned, and dat's why we calls him Judas 'Scariot.' "—Philadelphia Record.

Lloyd's Historic Bell.

The bell used to insure silence at Lloyd's, in London, when the arrival of an overdue vessel is announced to the anxious underwriters is of naval origin. It belonged to the Lutine, which was wrecked near the Zuyder Zee toward the end of the eighteenth century, when England was at war with Holland. As it was customary in those days to send bullion and specie by men-of-war, the Lutine carried a valuable consignment of specie, and the underwriters at Lloyd's were able to arrange with the Dutch government to salve the cargo and recoup themselves for their loss on insurance. Over £50,000 was recovered, and among other relics brought to shore was the Lutine's bell, to ring out good cheer for anxious underwriters who hear the safe arrival proclaimed by Lloyd's crier as silence follows the ringing of the bell.

Leather and Shoes.

The leather that makes the most comfortable shoes and the most lasting as well is the old fashioned tan bark cow leather, greased good and hard every Saturday with tallow fat. Oil is the life of leather, and a shoe should be oiled at least twice a month, as it readily evaporates. The man who walks a great deal should change his shoes every other day if he can afford it, and he should make some sacrifice to do it, as the benefit to his feet will be immeasurable. Shoes should fit the feet well and snugly. The feet should be the last part of a man's anatomy to tire from walking, and they won't if the proper care is taken of them.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

A Gigantic Spanish Palace.

The "eighth wonder," as it is usually called, is the gigantic palace of the Escurial, which stands in the ancient kingdom of Toledo, Spain. It is confessedly the most wonderful edifice in the world, whether in dimensions or riches. It has 1,800 rooms, 6,200 windows and doors, 80 staircases, 73 fountains, 48 wine cellars, 8 organs and 51 bells. Its circumference is 2,800 feet, or almost exactly a half mile. It was dedicated to St. Lorenzo, the saint who is said to have been broiled on a gridiron, and on that account its foundations were laid off in imitation of the shape of that kind of a piece of kitchen utensil.

Silhouette.

Silhouette was the name of a French minister who endeavored to raise the revenues by taxing the nobility. In consequence he became very unpopular, and, the fashion of profiles in black coming in about the same time, they were called in derision silhouettes, the nobility claiming that they had their portraits done in black because they were too poor to have a full picture taken.

He Remembered.

Mrs. Jones—Do you remember that night in June, Henry, when you first asked me to marry you? Mr. Jones—If you refer to that first, last, single, solitary and only occasion upon which I ever asked you to marry me, I do—and you never gave me another chance, either.

An Unhappy Medium.

Housekeeper—You're a big, healthy man. Why don't you go to work? Tramp—Lady, I'll tell yer me trouble. I'm an "unhappy medium." Housekeeper—What do you mean by that? Tramp—Well, yer see, I'm too heavy for light work an' too light for heavy work.

He Started It.

"Why are you going about with a lantern and a cynical smile?" asked the bystander.

"Don't interrupt me," returned Diogenes. "I'am the original investigating committee!"—Washington Star.

Emmett Tulis returned home last week from a three weeks trip to the Eastern cities, New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. He reports a "howling time."

Miss Encie Howard left Wednesday for New York City and Herkimer, N. Y., to be gone several weeks. Her mother Mrs. Elizabeth Howard accompanied her as far as Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Throop, have arrived from Norfolk, Va., and are guests of Hon. I. K. Hockley and wife. Mr. Throop has accepted the position of private secretary to Hon. J. K. P. Hall and enters upon the discharge of his duties June 1st. He will be located at St. Marys.

A large number of Emporiumites took in the Buffalo excursion on Tuesday. Among the party were: Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Bardwell, Mrs. Thos. Mc Grain, Miss Katie Best, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thompson, Misses Christina and Florence McDonald, A. F. Vogt, Wm. McDonald and Philip Blossinger.

Norman MacIntosh, one of our prompt paying snbscribers, called yesterday and pushed his PRESS well into 1907. Mr. M. continues to work in Howard's mill and is steady and reliable.

Miss Carrie Miller, left on Sunday for Philadelphia to attend a meeting of the Alumni Association of Philadelphia School for Nurses, to be held during the week of May 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H Norris pleasantly entertained a party of friends last Thursday evening at whist, the occasion being held in honor of the tenth anniversary of their marriage. The evening was pleasantly passed and hearty congratulations extended to Mr. and Mrs. Norris.

M. J. B. Brooks, W. H. Mitchell and H. B. Mutthersbaugh favored the PRESS with a visit while attending the Republican county convention Tuesday.

Don't forget the Business Men's meeting at Council Chamber, Friday evening.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Hon. Chas. W. Stone carried Huntington county on Wednesday for Governor.

The Children's Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. I. K. Hockley. Tuesday, June 5, at 2:30 o'clock.

The base ball team went to Renovo yesterday and played two games. The game in the morning resulted in a tie, 3 to 3. The afternoon game was a more one-sided affair, the score being 10 to 3 in favor of Renovo.

Edward Everett Hale's optimistic article on "The Comforts of To-day," and the first article of a serious campaign against Child Slavery are the contrasting features that distinguish the June number of the Woman'sHomeCompanion. The latter subject is handled in a masterly way in the first of a series of articles called "To Save the Children"—each article sustained by actual photographs and names and addresses of little children drudging all around you.

The editor who can please everyone is not fit for this world, but is entitled to wings. Human nature is constructed so that some like scandal, some don't; some like fake exposed, others don't; some like the truth told about them, others do not. Some like to take the paper for seven or eight years and never miss an issue or pay a cent, and get mad and stop it when they get a statement of their account; others don't. It is some consolation to know that the lord himself failed to please everyone while on earth.

Eye Specialist.

Prof. W. H. Budine, the well known Eye Specialist, of Binghamton, N. Y., will be at R. H. Hirsch's jewelry store, Emporium, Pa., June 16th. If you can't see well or have headache don't fail to call and see Prof. Budine, as he guarantees to cure all such cases. Lenses ground and fitted in old frames. Eyes tested and examined free. All work guaranteed.

Clothes and Conduct.

Every man and every woman feels the influence of clothes and appearance upon conduct. You have heard of the lonely man in the Australian bush who always put on evening dress for dinner so that he might remember he was a gentleman. Addison could not write his best unless he was well dressed. Put a naughty girl into her best Sunday clothes, and she will behave quite nicely; put a blackguard into khaki, and he will be a hero; put an omnibus conductor into uniform, and he will live up to his clothes. Indeed, in a millennium of free clothes of the latest fashion we shall all be archangels.—London Chronicle.

Bow Legged Men.

Do not revile the bow legged man, for he plays an important part in the world. It is estimated that 40 per cent of mankind are bow legged, so numerically this class is entitled to great respect. Bow legs invariably accompany a robust physique. We find them one of the conspicuous features of athletes. Comedians are almost always bow legged. Of the bow legged geniuses to which humanity points with pride the most illustrious examples are Caesar, Horace, Napoleon, Wellington, Schopenhauer and Cavour, the celebrated Italian statesman.—London Answers.

The Bright Side.

Words of cheer are words of help; words of gloom are words of harm. There is a bright side and a dark side to every phase of life and to every hour of time. If we speak of the bright side, we bring the brightness into prominence; if we speak of the dark side, we deepen its shadows. It is in our power to help or to hinder by a word. Say and every person with [illegible] contact.

$500 Reward.

On or about May 5th or 6th some thief forciably entered mill No. 1, (old mill) and broke into two tool chests, stealing tools, etc., and ruining another valuable chest. We will pay the above reward for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the party.

Sickness in Emporium

More Cases of Illness this Spring Than in Former Years.

An open winter such as the one just passed always leaves more sickness than usual in the Spring, as the stomach is overloaded with Winter food that is not needed.

Physicians and druggists say there are more cases of illness in Emporium this Spring than in former years. Perhaps there is not so much serious sickness, but Spring languor, loss of appetite, headaches, sleeplessness, back aches, weakness and debility, indigestion and other ills that result from indigestion or an overworked stomach, are more common than they have been for some years past.

This has resulted in an unusual demand for Mi-o-na stomach tablets at L. Taggart's. Before he felt that he could recommend this remedy, he tested it rigidly in many cases of heart-burn, indigestion, wind on the stomach, debility, and other troubles that result from a weakened digestion, with the greatest success.

In fact, Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful in curing all stomach troubles that L. Taggart gives a signed guarantee with every 50 cent box to refund the money if it does not cure.

Take one little tablet before each meal for a few days, and you will soon regain perfect health and strength, and lose all fear of indigestion or stomach troubles. Ash L. Taggart to show you the guarantee under which they sell this remedy.

Don't expect to get rid of your troubles by advertising them.

Letter to Fred Julian.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: If our agent charges you 10 cents more for a gallon of paint than somebodody else, don't think he is making more profit; we charge him more; it costs us more. It is all paint, true paint, and full-measure.

No other paint is all paint, true paint, and full-measure, so far as we know. That is wrong. We know some that are pure and full-measure, but weak, thin, too much oil and too little lead-and-zinc; an honest sort of weakness; don't know any better, may be.

It amounts to this; so far as we know; and we think we know the whole American trade; there is no other name but Devoe that stands for all paint, full-measure, right proportion. That's why it takes less gallons and wears longer.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.,
New York.

P. S.—Murry & Coppersmith sell our paint.

Stomach Troubles.

Mrs. Sue Martin, an old and highly respected resident of Faisonia, Miss., was sick with stomach trouble for more than six months. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured her. She says: "I can now eating anything I want and am the proudest woman in the world to find such a good medicine." For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

A Protest.

"Sh! Don't you dare to drag forth any of those fool corpses of college, or out you go, bag and baggage." Jack glanced nervously around the room and toward the hall.

"My dear fellow, your wife wouldn't believe me, no matter what I said against your character. Isn't that right, Chuck? Jack, you are a lucky dog, if there ever was one. A handsome wife who loves you, a kid, a fine home and plenty of horses. I wonder if you married her for her money?"

Jack's eyes narrowed. He seemed to muse. "Yes, I believe I can do it as easily as I did 15 years ago."

"Do what?" I asked.

"Wallop that kid brother of mine. Bob, I hope you'll fall desperately in love some day, and that you will have a devil of a time winning the girl. You need something to stir up your vitals. By George! and I hope she won't have a cent of money."

"Lovable brother, that!" Bob knocked the ashes from his cigar and essayed at laughter which wasn't particularly felicitous. "Supposing I was in love, now, and that the girl had heaps of money, and all that?"

"And all that," mimicked the elder brother. "What does 'and all that' mean?"

"Oh, shut up!"

"Well, I hope you are in love. It serves you right. You've made more than one girl's heart ache, you good-looking ruffian!"

Then he switched over to politics, and Robert became an interested listener. Quarter of an hour later the women returned, and certainly they made a picture which was most satisfactory to the masculine eye. Bob jumped to his feet and kissed them both, a thing I lacked the courage to do. How pleased they looked! How a woman loves flattery from those she loves!

Well, William is in front with the carriage; the women are putting on their cloaks, and I am admiring the luxurious crimson fur-lined garment which brother Robert had sent to Nancy from Paris. You will see by this that he was not altogether a thoughtless lad. Good-by, Mr. Robert. I leave you and your guiding-star to bolt the established orbit; for, after this night the world will never be the same careless, happy-go-lucky world. The farce has its tragedy, and what tragedy is free of the ludificatory? Youth must run its courses, even as the gay, wild brook must riot on its way to join the sober river.

I dare say that we hadn't gone 20 minutes before Robert stole out to the stables, only to return immediately with a bundle under his arm and a white felt hat perched rakishly on his head. He was chuckling audibly to himself.

"It will frighten the girls half to death. A gray horse and a bay; oh, I won't make any mistake. Let me see: I'll start about 12 o'clock. That'll get me to the spot just as the boys leave. This is the richest yet. I'll wager that there will be some tall screaming." He continued chuckling as he helped himself to his brother's perfectos and fine old Scotch. I don't know what book he found in the private case; some old rascal's merry tales, no doubt; for my hero's face was never in repose.

We had left Mrs. Secretary-of-the-Interior's and were entering the red brick mansion on Connecticut avenue. Carriages lined both sides of the street, and mounted police patrolled up and down.

"Poor boy!' sighed Nancy. "I wonder if he'll be lonely. It's a shame to leave him home the very first night."

"Why didn't he come, then?" Mrs. W. shrugged her polished shoulders.

"Oh, my cigars and Scotch are fairly comforting," put in Jack, complacently. "Besides, Jane isn't at all bad looking,"—winking at me. "What do you say, Charlie?"

But Charlie had not time to answer. The gray-haired, gray-whiskered ambassador was bowing pleasantly to us. A dozen notable military and naval attaches nodded; and we passed on to the ball-room, where the orchestra was playing "A Summer Night in Munich." In a moment Jack and his wife were lost in the maze of gleaming shoulders and white linen. It was a picture such as few men, once having witnessed it, can forget. Here were the great men in the great world: this man was an old rear-admiral, destined to become the nation's hero soon; there, a famous general, of long and splendid service; celebrated statesmen, diplomats, financiers; a noted English duke; a scion of the Hapsburg family; an intimate of the German kaiser; a swart Jap; a Chinaman with his peacock feather; tens of men whose lightest word was listened to by the four ends of the world; representatives of all the great kingdoms and states. The president and his handsome wife had just left as we came, so we missed that formality, which detracts from the pleasures of the ball-room.

"Who is that handsome young fellow over there, standing at the side of the Russian ambassador's wife?" asked Nancy, pressing my arm.

"Where? Oh, he's Count Karloff (or something that sounds like it), a wealthy Russian, in some way connected with the Russian government; a diplomat and a capital fellow, they say. I have never met him. . . . Hello! there's a stunning girl right next to him that I haven't seen before. . . . Where are you going?"

Nancy had dropped my arm and was gliding, kitty-corner fashion, across the floor. Presently she and the stunning girl had saluted each other after the impulsive fashion of American girls, and were playing cat-in-the-cradle, to the amusment of those foreigners nearest. A nod, and I was threading my way to Nancy's side.

"Isn't it glorious?" she began. "This is Miss Annesley, Charlie; Betty, Mr. Henderson." Miss Annesley looked mildly curious at Nan, who suddenly flushed. "We are to be married in the spring," she exclaimed shyly; and I dare say that there was a diffident expression on my own face.

Miss Anneslay gave me her hand, smiling. "You are a fortunate man, Mr. Henderson."

"Not the shadow of a doubt!" Miss Annesley, I frankly admitted on the spot, was, next to Nancy, the handsomest girl I ever saw; and as I thought of Mr. Robert in his den at home. I sincerely pitied him. I was willing to advance the statement that had he known, a pair of crutches would not have kept him away from No. 1300 Connecticut avenue.

I found three chairs, and we sat down. There was, for me, very little opportunity to talk. Women always have so much to say to each other, even when they haven't seen each other within 24 hours. From time to time Miss Annesley glanced at me, and I am positive that Nancy was extolling my charms. It was rather embarrassing, and I was balling my gloves up in a most dreadful fashion. As they seldom addressed a word to me, I soon became absorbed in the passing scene. I was presently aroused, however.

"Mr. Henderson, Count Karloff," Miss Annesley was saying. (Karloff is a name of my own choosing. I haven't the remotest idea if it means anything in the Russian language. I hope not.)

"Charmed!" The count's r's were very pleasantly rolled. I could see by the way his gaze roved from Miss Annesley to Nancy that he was puzzled to decide which came the nearer to his idea of womanhood.

I found him a most engaging fellow, surprisingly well-informed on American topics. I credit myself with being a fairly good reader of faces, and, reading his as he bent it in Miss Annesley's direction, I began to worry about Mr. Robert's course of true love. Here was a man who possessed a title, was handsome, rich, and of assured social position: it would take an extraordinary American girl to look coldly upon his attentions. By and by the two left us, Miss Annesley promising to call on Nancy.

"And where are you staying, Betty?"

"Father and I have taken Senator Blank's house in Chevy Chase for the winter. My horses are already in the stables. Do you ride?"

"I do."

"Then we shall have some great times together."

"Be sure to call. I want you to meet my brother."

"I believe I have," replied Miss Annesley.

"I mean my younger brother, a lieutenant in the army."

"Oh, then you have two brothers?"

"Yes," said Nancy.

"The dance is dying, Mademoiselle," said the count in French.

"Your arm, Monsieur. Au revoir, Nancy."

"Poor Bobby!" Nancy folded her hands and sighed mournfully. "It appears to me that his love affair is not going to run very smooth. But isn't she just beautiful, Charlie? What color, what style!"

"She's a stunner, I'm forced to admit. Bob'll never stand a ghost of a show against that Russian. He's a great social catch, and is backed by many kopecks."

"How unfortunate we did not know that she would be here! Bobby would have met her at his best, and his best is more to my liking than the count's. He has a way about him that the women like. He's no laggard. But money ought not to count with Betty. She is worth at least $250,000. Her mother left all her property to her, and her father acts only as trustee. Senator Blank's house rents for $8,000 the season. It's ready furnished, you know, and one of the handsomest homes in Washington. Besides, I do not trust those foreigners,"—taking a remarkably abrupt curve, as it were.

"There's two B's in your bonnet, Nancy," I laughed.

"Never mind the B's; let us have the last of this waltz."

This is not my own true story; so I shall bow off and permit my hero to follow the course of true love, which is about as rough-going a thoroughfare as the many roads of life have to offer.

CHAPTER VI.

THE MAN ON THE BOX.

At 11:30 he locked up his book and took to his room the mysterious bundle which he had purloined from the stables. It contained the complete livery of a groom. The clothes fitted rather snugly, especially across the shoulders. He stood before the pier-glass, and a complacent (not to say roguish) smile flitted across his face. The black half-boots, the white doeskin breeches, the brown brass-buttoned frock, and the white hat with the brown cockade. . . . Well, my word for it, he was the handsomest jehu Washington ever turned out. With a grin he touched his hat to the reflection in the glass, and burst out laughing. His face was as smooth as a baby's for he had generously sacrificed his beard.

I can hear him saying to himself: "Lord, but this is a lark! I'll have to take another Scotch to screw up the edge of my nerve. Won't the boys laugh when they hear how I stirred the girls' frizzes! We'll have a little party here when they all get home. It's a good joke."

Mr. Robert did not prove much of a prophet. Many days were to pass ere he reentered his brother's house.

He stole quietly from the place. He hadn't proceeded more than a block when he became aware of the fact that he hadn't a penny in his clothes. This discovery disquieted him, and he half turned about to go back. He couldn't go back. He had no key.

"Pshaw! I won't need any money;"—and he started off toward Connecticut avenue. He dared not hail a car, and he would not have dared had he possessed the fare. Some one might recognize him. He walked briskly for ten minutes. The humor of the escapade appealed to him greatly, and he had all he could do to smother the frequent bursts of laughter which surged to his lips. He reached absently for his cigar-case. No money, no cigars.

"That's bad. Without a cigar I'm likely to get nervous. Scraping off that beard made me forgetful. Jove! with these fleshings, I feel as self-conscious as an untried chorus girl. These togs can't be very warm in winter. Ha! that must be the embassy where all those lights are; carriages. Allons!"

To make positive, he stopped a pedestrian.

"Pardon me, sir," he said, touching his hat, "but will you be so kind as to inform me if yonder is the British embassy?"

"It is, my man," replied the gentleman.

"Thank you, sir."

And each passed on to his affairs.

"Now for William; we must find William, or the joke will be on Robert."

He maneuvered his way through the congested thoroughfare, searching the faces of the grooms and footmen. He dodged hither and thither and was once brought to a halt by the mounted police.

"Here you! What d'ye mean by running around like this. Lost your carriage, hey? I've a mind to run ye in. Y' know the rules relatin' th' leavin' of yer box in times like these. Been takin' a sly nip, probably, an' they've sent yer hack down a peg. Get a gait on y', now."

Warburton laughed silently as he made for the sidewalk. The first man he plumped into was William—a very much worried William, too. Robert could have fallen on his neck for joy. All was plain sailing now.

"I'm very glad to see you, sir," said William. "I was afraid you could not get my clothes on, sir. I was getting a trifle worried, too. Here's the carriage number."

Warburton glanced hastily at it and stuffed it into a convenient pocket.

"It's 16 carriages up, sir; a bay and a gray. You can't miss them. The bay, being a saddle-horse, is a bit restive in the harness: but all you have to do is to touch him with the whip. And don't try to push ahead of your turn, or you will get into trouble with the police. They are very strict. And don't let them confuse you, sir. The numbers won't be in rotation. You'll hear 115, and the next moment 35, like as not. It's all according as to how the guests are leaving. Good luck to you, sir, and don't forget to explain it all thoroughly to Mr. Warburton, sir."

"Don't worry, William; we'll come out of this with colors flying."

"Very well, sir. I shall hang around till you are safely off,"—and William disappeared.

Warburton could occasionally hear the faint strain of music. From time to time the carriage-caller bawled out a number, and the carriage would roll up under the porte-cochere. Warburton concluded that it would be a good plan to hunt up his rig. His search did not last long. The bay and the gray stood only a litle way from the gate. The box was vacant, and he climbed up and gathered the reins. He sat there for some time, longing intensely for a cigar, a good cigar, such as gentlemen smoked.

"Seventeen!" came hoarsely along on the wings of the night. "Number 17, and lively there!"

Warburton's pulse doubled its beat. His number.

"Skt!" the bay and the gray started forward, took the half-circle and stopped under the porte-cochere. Warburton recollected that a fashionable groom never turned his head unless spoken to; so he leveled his gaze at his horses' ears and waited.

But from the very corner of his eye he caught a glimpse of two women, one of whom was enveloped in a crimson cloak. He thrilled with exultation. What a joke it was! He felt the carriage list as the women stepped in. The door slammed to and the rare good joke was on the way.

"Off with you!" cried the pompous footman, with an imperious wave of the hand. "Number 99!"

"Ninety-nine! Ninety-nine!" bawled the carriage man.

Our jehu turned into the avenue, holding a tolerable rein. He clucked and lightly touched the horses with the lash. This was true sport; this was humor, genuine, initiative, unforced. He could imagine the girls and their fright when he finally slowed down, opened the door, and kissed them both. Wouldn't they let out a yell, though? His plan was to drive furiously for half a dozen blocks, zigzag from one side of the street to the other, taking the corners sharply, and then make for Scott Circle.

Now, a lad of six can tell the difference between 17 and 71. But this astonishing jehu of mine had been conspicuous as the worst mathematician and the best soldier in his class at West Point. No more did he remember that he was not in the wild west, and that here in the east there were laws prohibiting reckless driving.

He drove decently till he struck Dupont Circle. From here he turned into New Hampshire, thinking it to be Rhode Island. Mistake number two. He had studied the city map, but he was conscious of not knowing it as well as he should have known it, but, true to his nature, he trusted to luck.

Aside from all this, he forgot that a woman might appreciate this joke only when she heard it recounted. To live through it was altogether a different matter. In an episode like this, a woman's imagination, given the darkness such as usually fills a carriage at night, becomes a round of terrors. Every moment is freighted with death or disfigurement. Her nerves are like the taut strings of a harp in a wintry wind, ready to snap at any moment; and then, hysteria. With man the play, and only the play, is the thing.

Snap-crack! The surprised horses, sensitive and quick-tempered as all highly organized beings are, nearly leaped out of the harness. Never before had their flanks received a more unwarranted stroke of the lash. They reared and plunged and broke into a mad gallop, which was exactly what the rascal on the box desired. An expert horseman, he gauged the strength of the animals the moment they bolted, and he knew that they were his. Once the rubber-tired vehicle slid sidewise on the wet asphalt, and he heard a stifled scream.

He laughed, and let forth a sounding "whoop," which nowise allayed the fright of the women inside the carriage. He wheeled into S street, scraping the curb as he did so. Pedestrians stopped and stared at him. A policeman waved his club helplessly, even hopelessly. On, on: to Warburton's mind this ride was as wild as that which the Bishop of Vannes took from Belle-Isle to Paris in the useless effort to save Fouquet from the wrath of Louis XIV, and to anticipate the pregnant discoveries of one D'Artagnan. The screams were renewed.

Harmless Independence.

Rear Admiral Wilde, at a banquet given in his honor in Boston, desired to illustrate in some way a certain sort of humorous and harmless impudence that is found at its best in America.

"There was a young man," said Admiral Wilde, "and he desired to pay his addresses to a certain young lady. So, in a frank and honorable way, he called on the young lady's father, described his circumstances and prospects, and asked if he might be regarded as a suitor."

"'Well,' said the father, 'I have no objections to you. You seem to be an honest, industrious, healthy enough young fellow. I guess you can begin to pay your addresses if you want to. Understand, though, that I put out the lights at 10 o'clock.'

"'All right, sir,' said the young man. 'I'll be careful not to come around before that time.'"—Buffalo Enquirer.

Appreciated.

"You bet," says the man from the Chilkoot pass, "there never was a paper that was hailed with as much joy as that copy of yours that had all that article about alcohol in patent medicines."

"I am very glad to hear from such a far-away corner of the earth that my efforts have been appreciated," says the editor of the journal which has published the article referred to.

"It was all the goods—it sure cheered the boys up; an' here's a subscription from every one of them in return. Why, say, podner, when your paper come to town it was just two days after Two-Toothed Tompkins had broke through the ice with his whole winter stock of whisky, an' if we hadn't found out about them medicines bein' good to drink we'd a' had to go dry all winter. An' bein' as I own the drug store you can see how thankful I feel to'rds you."—Judge.

Keynote of Piety.

There are people forever in search of happiness who never find it. Happiness oftenest comes by indirection. You are intent on duty and are surprised to find you have stumbled on more than you sought. To make happiness the end of your seeking is an easy way not to find it. The search for happiness is like the search for the end of the rainbow; it recedes as you advance. You cannot capture it. After all your planning you will have to give up the pursuit and content yourself with following the plain and plodding path of duty, and to find your joy in fidelity to conscience and in obedience to the divine will. In attaining this blessing imitate the boatman, who directs his from above the point of destination, and so makes sure of it. Aim at something higher than happiness, and higher will be sure to include the lower.—Detroit Free Press.

Getting a Confession.

Just as a certain Sunday school of the town was about to be dismissed the other day, a little girl with roguish eyes sat up in her seat of the back row and took notice. "Teacher," said she with the gravest expression, "which is right, 'I is a fool' or 'I are a fool'?" Teacher looked both grieved and surprised and replied on the instant, "I am a fool' is right my dear!" Whereupon the whole school passed from titters to the loudest of unrestrained merriment.—Lewiston, (Mo.) Journal.

THE POINT OF THE PROVERB

An old proverb advises the shoemaker to stick to his last. It means that a man always succeeds best at the business he knows. To the farmer it means, stick to your plow; to the blacksmith, stick to your forge; to the painter, stick to your brush. When we make experiments out of our line they are likely to prove expensive failures.

It is amusing, however, to remark how every one of us secretly thinks he could do some other fellow's work better than the other fellow himself. The painter imagines he can make paint better than the paint manufacturer; the farmer thinks he can do a job of painting better, or at least cheaper than the painter, and so on.

A farm hand in one of Octave Thanet's stories tells the Walking Delegate of the Painters' Union, "Anybody can slather paint;" and the old line painter tells the paint salesman, "None of your ready made mixtures for me; I reckon I ought to know how to mix paint."

The farm hand is wrong and the painter is wrong: "Shoemaker, stick to your last." The "fancy farmer" can farm, of course, but it is an expensive amusement. If it strikes him as pleasant to grow strawberries at fifty cents apiece, or to produce eggs that cost him five dollars a dozen, it is a form of amusement, to be sure, if he can afford it, but it's not farming. If the farmer likes to slosh around with a paint brush and can afford the time and the expense of having a practical painter do the job right pretty soon afterward, it's a harmless form of amusement. If the painter's customers can afford to stand for paint that comes off in half the time it should, they have a perfect right to indulge his harmless vanity about his skill in paint making. But in none of these cases does the shoemaker stick to his last.

There is just one class of men in the world that knows how to make paint properly and have the facilities for doing it right; and that is the paint manufacturers—the makers of the standard brands of ready-prepared paints. The painter mixes paints; the paint manufacturer grinds them together. In a good ready-prepared paint every particle of one kind of pigment is forced to join hands with a particle of another kind and every bit of solid matter is forced, as it were, to open its mouth and drink in its share of linseed oil. That is the only way good paint can be made, and if the painter knew how to do it he has nothing at hand to do it with. A paint pot and a paddle are a poor substitute for power-mixers, buhr-mills and roller-mills.

The man who owns a building and neglects to paint it as often as it needs paint is only a degree more short-sighted than the one who tries to do his own painting or allows the painter to mix his paint for him.

ONE UNVIOLATED RULE.

Club Servitor Had Seen Them All Broken Into Bits, Save That One.

A certain club, the name of which need not be mentioned, has strict regulations against gambling, relates the American Spectator.

A quartette of club members decided to break the rule by a game of poker for small stakes, so they adjourned to one of the small rooms and told an old servant to bring a pack of cards.

When he brought them one of the members asked: "John, I suppose it would be something utterly new in this club if we were to do such a thing as play for money with these cards?"

The negro scratched his head and deliberated, finally answering: "Boss, I'se been wiv dis club a long time, and I'se seen many things."

"Yes, but what have you seen?"

"I've seen ebry rule of dis club vi'lated 'ceptin' one."

"What is that one?"

"De rule 'gainst gibbin' tips to de servants."

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY.

A Woman Who Has Suffered Tells How to Find Relief.

The thousands of women who suffer backache, languor, urinary disorders and other kidney ills, will find comfort in the words of Mrs. Jane Farrell, of 606 Ocean Ave., Jersey City, N. J., who says: "I reiterate all I have said before in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had been having heavy backache and my general health was affected when I began using them. My feet were swollen, my eyes puffed, and dizzy spells were frequent. Kidney action was irregular and the secretions highly colored. To-day, however, I am a well woman, and I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills have made me so, and are keeping me well."

Deduction by Analogy.

"Mamma, I'se got a stomach ache," said Nelly Bly, six years old.

"That's because you've been without lunch. It's because your stomach is empty. You would feel better if you had something in it."

That afternoon the pastor called, and in the course of conversation, remarked that he had been suffering all day with a very severe headache.

"That's because it is empty," said Nellie. "You'd feel much better if you had something in it."—American Spectator.

A WOOL-TYING BOX.

Convenient Device Which Aids the Small Shipper in Marketing His Wool.

A very useful device for tying fleeces in a compact bundle is hown in illustration. It is made of one-inch boards hinged together on a central square piece. This is one foot square and the sides a are three feet long at the bottom and 14 inches at the top. The pieces b are cut one foot square.

To use the box, explains the Farm and Home, strings are laid across, as shown by dotted lines. Then the fleece is placed upon the center piece and the edges folded in. The two sides, a, are drawn upright in position and then the two sides, b, are forced upward and in until they are perpendicular. The small clamp, c, may then be hooked over the sides to hold them solid. The fleece may then be brought down into the box and the strings tied. It makes a compact bundle and leaves the wool even upon the outside.

A GOOD COW.

Story of One Animal of Jersey Strain Who Paid Her Owner a Good Profit.

A dairyman who does not own many cows, and those good ones, recently gave the following figures concerning one of his cows, a pure-bred Jersey, to the Ohio Farmer.

Her first calf was dropped in 1897—a heifer—now a valued member of the herd. Her next calf came in 1898, with a successor each year up to the present, making nine calves in all. Three were females and six males. The heifers have been retained in the herd and the bulls sold at an average of $50 each. Valuing the heifers at the same, the nine calves represent an earning of $360. With her second calf she made a test of 280 pounds of milk in seven days, churning 14 pounds, four ounces of butter. Her average milk yield has been 7,500 pounds, sold to a creamery at an average of $1.20 per 100 pounds, an aggregate for eight years of $720. Adding the value of the calves to the amount received for milk, her gross earnings amount to $1,080. These figures are very eloquent for the good special purpose cow, but were not given to me, nor do I record them, as anything extraordinary. An annual yield of 7,500 pounds of five per cent. milk, while indicating a cow of great merit does not raise her above thousands of other good cows. She has broken no records but she has kept the faith. She has always had good care, good feed and plenty of it. She has been given a chance. She is a cow of robust constitution, a great feeder, a strong milker and a reliable breeder.

Her feed had been the ordinary feed of the herd. Pasture and soiling crops in summer, corn silage, mixed hay, corn meal, wheat bran and oil meal in winter. She has never been fed excessively, but has never gone hungry nor in any way known abuse.

Every man that has a large number of hogs should endeavor to give them a good pasture. Too many breeders are contented with a hog pasture that is covered with native grasses only. Clovers and blue grass make a good pasture for swine.

Science in Hog Raising.

The fact that we have been able to make money out of hogs even with the most unscientific methods of breeding and care is proof that under proper conditions the hog will make his owner rich. Scientific management means the care of swine to keep away disease, obtain early maturity and keep up the natural fecundity of the animals.

HE WENT ON CRUTCHES

All Medicines Failed Until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured His Rheumatism.

"Some years ago." says Mr. W. H. Clark, a printer, living at 612 Buchanan street, Topeka, Kans., "I had a bad attack of rheumatism and could not seem to get over it. All sorts of medicines failed to do me any good and my trouble kept getting worse. My feet were so swollen that I could not wear shoes and I had to go on crutches. The pain was terrible.

"One day I was setting the type of an article for the paper telling what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for a man afflicted as I was and I was so impressed with it that I determined to give the medicine a trial. For a year my rheumatism had been growing worse, but after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I began to improve. The pain and swelling all disappeared and I can truthfully say that I haven't felt better in the past twenty years than I do right now. I could name, off hand, a half-dozen people who have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at my suggestion and who have received good results from them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They contain no morphine, opiate, narcotic, nor anything to cause a drug habit. They do not act on the bowels but they actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism because they make rich, red blood and no man or woman can have healthy blood and rheumatism at the same time. They have also cured many cases of anæmia, neuralgia, sciatica, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia and other diseases that have not yielded to ordinary treatment.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

"SOUTHWEST"

OF AID TO HOSTESS

VARIOUS WAYS IN WHICH TO ENTERTAIN GUESTS.

A Charming Floral Card Party—A Jolly Paper Wedding—Some Household Hints—Good Scheme for Church Bazar.

A Floral Card Party.

A new idea for progressive card parties given for charity, is to give prizes of potted plants and keep the score with flowers, either carnations, roses, or some blossom that does not wilt quickly. Invitations are sent for a "floral progressive card party" on cards cut in the shape of a flower. Jonquils, tulips, marguerites and roses lend themselves admirably to the scheme. To the winners pass vases containing the score flowers. At the finish everyone will possess at least one or more of the fragrant reminders of their good luck. The ice cream may be molded in floral shapes, and the small cakes ornamented with candy roses, crystalized violets and rose leaves may be mixed with the bonbons. Each guest is supposed to contribute 25 or 50 cents, whichever sum is agreed upon, to the charity for which the party is given.

The Paper Wedding.

The first anniversary of the wedding day brings the jolliest kind of a celebration, the "paper" wedding. Very pretty tablecloths and napkins come in paper, so they are just the thing for the dining-room table. If these are not obtainable, get plain white paper and make a border of the lace paper used for pantry shelves. Use paper flowers in decorating, and beautiful portieres and draperies can be made by cutting crepe paper into strips and hanging it from grills, doorways and over the lace curtains. The invitations may be inclosed in tiny Japanese lanterns and delivered by messengers, or they may be sent by post in the ordinary way.

If one cares to go to the trouble, the hostess may wear an entire gown of paper, and request her guests to do the same. Provide a supply of paper snapping caps, which will afford much merriment. The ice cream or ice can be served in paper cases, also the nuts and bonbons. In fact the resources of paper are almost endless. For amusement hats and aprons of paper could be made, also the cutting of silhouettes and drawing pictures of events in the first year of housekeeping experiences, prizes being awarded according to vote. If desired, the whole scheme may be carried out a la Japan, for there are so many articles of paper of this character.

A correspondent asks for the proper vegetable to be served with meat. There is really no cut and dried rule, but custom dictates the serving of peas with lamb; roast pork and goose call for apple sauce; and chicken for cranberries, either in the form of a sauce or an ice to be served with the meat course; game calls for currant jelly and onions; creamed fish is accompanied by fried potatoes or croquettes, while roast beef is served with most any of the vegetables, although tomatoes, corn and cauliflower are a safe combination; a roast of veal needs a piquant sauce of some kind, and beans are a good vegetable to serve, being very nutritious, a quality lacking in veal.

If the reader who asked how a black straw hat could be cleaned without looking dull afterward will take a stiff brush and thoroughly take out the dust, then brush lightly with water which has been colored with good black ink, the result will be satisfactory. Do not get the hat too wet, and work quickly.

Here is a good scheme for the church fair that has had grab bags and fish ponds. Make a flower bed and plant in rows a quantity of paper blossoms; attach to the root of each flower a small article done up in tissue paper. Upon the payment of five cents or whatever sum is agreed on the buyer is allowed to pull one blossom. The garden is in charge of "Mary, Mary, quite contrary," and this feature of the bazar ought to be a very profitable adjunct.

MADAME MERRI.

A Sensitive Skin.

Your skin, being so very sensitive, must be treated carefully. Do not plunge the face into cold water, neither dash the water over the face when suffering from sunburn or exposure to wind. The sudden shock is not only injurious to the whole system, but has been known to permanently deface the complexion by a species of tanning, which left a brown or yellow tinge impossible to efface.

Lotion for Tired Eyes.

Lotion for weak, tired or inflamed eyes Fifteen drops of spirits of camphor, one teaspoonful of powedered boric acid, two-thirds of a cup of boiling water. Cool, strain through muslin and apply several times a day with an eyecup. Don't wear spotted veils and never read in a dim light. Bad eyes are usually the result of abuse or neglect.

For Aching Feet.

Soak them every night for half an hour in hot water. Read a book to beguile the time. You must afterward rub them with a good foot lotion made by mixing vaseline with a good mutton tallow half and half. Us very little, just enough to supply the natural oils.

THE TROLLEY AND BEAUTY

A Famous Actress Tells How the Inexpensive Trolley Is A Fine Beautifier.

Amelia Bingham gets up in the morning and takes a trolley ride. This is the way she keeps her good looks.

"Give me your beauty rules," said a caller to Miss Bingham. "How yo you keep your spirits, your complexion, your figure, and your style?"

Miss Bingham was making up in front of her mirror.

"I keep my complexion and my looks generally," said she with a hurried smile, "by that simplest of all things —keeping busy.

"The domestic woman ought to be a great deal better looking than the actress, because she can devote more time to herself. She can rest when she wants to rest; she can stay in the house in bad weather; she can humor herself and save herself, treat herself well, and keep her spirits calm.

"With the actress it is different. She must go out in all kinds of weather; she must keep bad hours; she must lose sleep; and she must eat when her work will allow her to eat. Theoretically she ought to be a poor looking specimen. Actually she is just the reverse.

"If I were to lay down a set of beauty laws for any woman I would begin by telling her to keep up and moving. Women soon rust out. I would tell her to get out and be active. I would admonish her to rise early in the morning, do her own shopping, keep her own house, look after her own servants. And then have as good a time as possible.

"Open air is a splendid cosmetic for any woman. There never lived a woman who was not the better for good ozone. I love to get out and drive. And there is no reason why any woman alive cannot do the same.

"I have my horses, and when I drive I can sit in a handsome carriage and take my ease. But I much prefer trolley riding. It is my great pleasure to get up early in the morning and get out on top of a bus and take a ride. You can travel a long way for five cents, and when you come home you feel better and brighter.

"That is one of my chief delights when I visited London. It is delightful, and you get the air as perfectly as if you were driving your four in hand. I love to ride on a trolley car. Whizzing through the city is a great pleasure, and with a clear track ahead of you and a good, capable gripman by your side, you are indeed complete.

"Get out early in the morning. Take five cents and give it to the conductor. Take your place on the front seat of the trolley, let the gripman be your chauffeur.

A LAND OF OPPORTUNITIES.

Inducements Held Out by Western Canada Are Powerful.

A recent number of the Winnipeg (Manitoba) Free Press contains an excellent article on the prospects in Western Canada, a portion of which we are pleased to reproduce.

The agents of the Canadian Government, located at different centres in the States, will be pleased to give any further information as to rates, and how to reach these lands.

"Just now there is a keener interest than ever before on the part of the outside world, in regard to the claims of the Canadian West as a field of settlement. At no previous time has there been such a rush of immigration, and the amount of information distributed broadcast is unprecedentedly great.

"In the majority of the States of the Union and in Great Britain the opportunities for home-making and achieving of even a modest competence are at the best limited. Moreover, according to the social and industrial conditions prevalent in those communities, the future holds out no promise of better things. It is not strange, then, that energetic young men should turn their eyes to Canada's great wheat belt, where every man can pursue fortune without the hindrance of any discouraging handicap.

"The inducements held out by Western Canada are powerful and made manifest by the great movement now in progress. That the prospects are considerably more than reasonably certain is borne out by the history of the country and its residents. The promise of gain is powerful, but when added to it there is the prospect of a corresponding social and civil elevation, it should prove irresistible to young men of a particularly desirable class for any new country.

"The Canadian West is alive with opportunities for the young man who aims at becoming more than a mere atom in the civil and national fabric. Some of the eager young fellows who arrive on the prairies daily are destined to become more than merely prosperous farmers. In the near future great municipal and provincial development will be in the hands of the people. The stepping stone to both financial prosperity and civil prominence is, and will be, the farm. For every professional opening there are hundreds of agricultural openings. The Canadian prairies are teeming with opportunities for the honest and industrious of all classes, but they are specially inviting to the ambitious young man who seeks a field for the energy and ability which he feels inherent within him. The familiar cry of "Back to the soil!" is more than a vain soundng phrase when applied to Western Canada."

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increases in the Number of Operations Performed Each Year—How Women May Avoid Them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, who are either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country—they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation—but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

The following letters cannot fail to bring hope to despairing women.

Miss Ruby Mushrush, of East Chicago, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a great sufferer with irregular periods and female trouble, and about three months ago the doctor, after using the X-Ray on me, said I had an abcess and would have to have an operation. My mother wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and it not only saved me from an operation but made me entirely well."

Mrs. Alice Berryhill, of 313 Boyce Street, Chattanooga, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Three years ago life looked dark to me. I had ulceration and inflammation of the female organs and was in a serious condition.

"My health was completely broken down and the doctor told me that if I was not operated upon I would die within six months. I told him I would have no operation but would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He tried to influence me against it but I sent for the medicine that same day and began to use it faithfully. Within five days I felt relief but was not entirely cured until I used it for some time.

"Your medicine is certainly fine. I have induced several friends and neighbors to take it and I know more than a dozen who had female troubles and who to-day are as well and strong as I am from using your Vegetable Compound."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Sciatica Cured For Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey of 3322 Clinton St., Minneapolis. Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlains Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25 cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

S. P. Kreider and M. L. Haynes of Driftwood attend the lecture Monday.

The members of Camp Nos. 136 and 122 extend their thanks to their friends for their assistance in making the lecture a success. The music, solos and quartet were fine and rendered in an able manner. One piece not on the program was carried out to the end of the entertainment, by a youngster that surely had a good pair of lungs.

Bro, Huth was very much disappointed by the small audience at Emporiom, Saturday evening. Wake up, Bros. of 382, let the people know who you are.

The lecture, under the auspices of Camp 136 and 122, by State Lecturer, Hon. Clarence H. Huth of Shamokin, Pa., in the "Vanguard of the Nations" was one of the best ever heard here. Althongh the weather was stormy, Brooks hall was crowded to its capacity, even standing room. People like to improve a good thing when they get a chance and they did have a treat on Monday evening. The even will long be rembered by those present. We hope brother Huth will make us another visit soon and may we not forget our motto: "God, Our Country and our free schools." Brother Huth gave out three secrets of the order. One was to look out for —— William and keep your duespaid and remember lest we forget.

GREAT REGATTAS.

Will be held on Hampton Roads During Jamestown Exposition 1907.

[By Charles Frederick Stansbury.]

NORFOLK, VA., May 28, 1906.

Yachtsmen all over the world are turning their eyes toward Hampton Roads, where in 1907, during the period of the Jamestown Exposition there will be the largest and most beautiful assemblage of everything that floats or sails, from a warship to a catboat, that has ever been dreamed of by the most maginative sailor man.

Every American knows that Hampton Roads is an estuary of the Chesapeake Bay, reaching from a point within Capes Charles and Henry to the mouth of the James River, where it widens into a beautiful land-locked bay, forming a safe harbor capable of comfortably accommodating the navies of the world with the merchant marine thrown in. Schoolboys recalls with glowing eyes that here the celebrated fight took place between the Merrimac and the Monitor within sight of the green parapets of Fortress Monroe.

Upon this noble sheet of water there will be held next year a series of regattas, races and acquatic events on a scale never before attempted and with a marine aggregation drawn from all parts of the earth. In the presence of the navies of the world a multitude of white-winged yachts will compete for honors aud trophies well worth the effort.

Commanding a view of one hundred and sixty square miles of protected water way, the Jamestown Exposition possesses an ared for a naval, marine and yachting expesition such as has been enjoyed by no other exposition in the world's history. From the point of view of a marine spectacle, alone, it will be worth crossing oceans to witness.

Many trophies and prizes will be offered and many new boats built to contest for them. Is seems probable that a new and better era for yachting as a clean and noble sport will date from the events to occur during the Jamestown Exposition. Representative yachtsmen from the United States and Canada have joined hands with the Hampton Boads Yacht Club and the Exposition Company to ensure clean sport, equitable rules, a fair field and no favor.

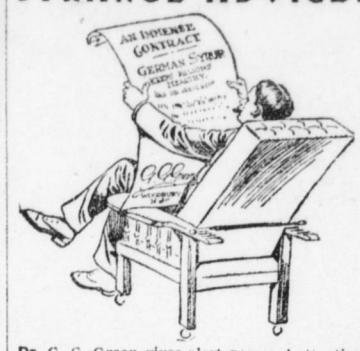
STRANGE ADVICE!



Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

¶In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. ¶We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. ¶We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. ¶New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. At all druggists. 4
